The meeting adjourned, at a late hour, subject to the call of the Committee. We shall publish a full report of proceedings in our next. The Straight Cut Complete.

In company with Alderman Hadley and Prenties, one or two representatives of the City Press and other gentlemen, we paid a visit, yesterday afternoon, to the works at the Straight Cut, which are now complete and ready for the inspection and acceptance of our City Authorities .-The Harbor thus constructed by the liberal and enlightened enterprize of our own people, is undoubtedly the best on the Lakes. The two parallel piers which form and protect the new entrance into our river, are eleven bundred feet in length, and extend into fifteen feet water. These piers are formed of cribs of heavy timber, loaded with stone-and protected on each side by stort piles. At the outer extremity of each there is a heavy bulkhead, 32 feet square, containing 6000 cubic feet of timber, some four tons of iron and P. Hayden, 1200 tons of stone. On the exterior of and close against this bulkhead, a row of piles, each a foot square and 32 feet long has been driven, to keep the crib in its place, and gnard it against the shock of the elements. Between the piers a broad and straight channel, 200 feet wide, with from 18 to 15 feet water, leads into the river, where there is room and water enough for all the vessels in our Lake. The work has been done in the most thorough style by the contractors, Messrs. Hasbrouck & Conro, and is a monument of their skill and fidelity. The "Straight Out" is now finished and ready for use, and its completion secures to Milwaukee the safest, most accessible and roomiest Harbor on all these inland J. Harbridge,

THE REVELATION.—The public are indebted to Mr. Bigler for his revolution, in the Senate debate of Wednesday, of the fact that the omission in Mr. Toolobs' Kansas bill of the last Congress, of any provision for a submission to the people of the Constitution proposed to be formed under it. "was a matter of design and concert among Steamers, the Democratic politicians who conferred upon it." The Republicans suspected the design at the time, and charged it, but were met by indig. nant denials. "It is now said by Mr. Bigler that " the framers of the Toomb's bill intended tha " there should be no submission to the people of " the Constitution to be formed under it."

A MISTAGE.—In announcing the newly elected officers of the Chicago and Milwankee Railroad It is proper that the public should know that, owing to the impossibility of obtaining correct reports by telegraph, and being determined that our readers should be thoroughly posted, we have been compelled to catabilish a Figeon Express, at an expense of $150,000 per annum, britishing us news faithfully and promptly. The Sentinel is the oldest paper in the city, has a much larger circulation than any other, and of course is the best medium for advertisers. It gives all the space for reading matter which it an persibly spare, and makes no exclusive pretensions to being a "family paper," leaving its renders to judge of its quality in that respect as compared with others.

CITY MATTERS.

LI TUF VASSES IN PORT-THE HARBOR, &C. We have delayed making our usual list of yessels laid up at this port, owing to the river beng open, and vessels arriving and departing ocasionally, and in the hope that the ice would orm a safe means of reaching them so as to obtain their names; but as the movement of vessels has about ceased, and all we believe, are stili-ped, we yesterday made a boating expedition and obtained a complete list. The river from the mouth to the mills, and up the Menom once to Pfister's tannery, is free of ice, and navigation as easy as in midsummar.

The new Straight Cut Harbor is complete, except the driving of the piles to secure the outermost cribs, and one of the dredges is still at work in the channel. The old Government piers are about gone to destruction, the South pier beng an entire wreck, and the North pier in very little better condition. The expense of putting these piers in good condition again would be almost as much as to build new work entirely. By the time the early spring gales have done their night, was an immouse one. The spacious Hull work upon the old harbor, it will probably be

THE TRIAL OF COL. SUMBER. -The recent trial of Col. Sumner at Fort Leavenworth, before a Court Martial, seems to have been nothing better than a force, originating probably in some personal spite rather than zeal for the service .--On the charge of "conduct unbecoming an, officer and a gentleman," he was acquitted, but convicted of "neglect of duty." Upon this state of facts, the Court sentenced him "to be reprimanded in orders by the Department Commander, to be suspended from rank and from command, and to forfeit his pay proper for the space of four 75 | calendar months." Gen Scott, however, while admitting that the Court was justified in its conclusion, significantly adds: "Presuming that Col. Summer was acting on a conscientious belief of the correctness of the course, while I confirm hereby the sentence of the Court, I remit the whole of the penalties contained in it."

A DECISION ON USUNY .-- The Buffalo Express states that, in a number of cases recently tried in the Supreme Court at that city, the question was " whether paper payable below, as it is caled-that is, in New York-and discounted here, is usurious or not; that the Court held in the affirmative, and so instructed the jury, who returned a verdict accordingly. In other words, it was held that a loan of money to be repaid at a place, other than the place of loan, where the parties resided and did business, the money be ing worth more at the place of payment than at the place of loan, was usurious and void."

Gov. Walker Turned Up, &c.

Wasneron, Dro. 18, 1857,
Governor Walker arrived here yesterday, and immediately sought Senator Douglas, with whom he had a protracted interview. He also sent his private Secretary to the President yesterday, to inform him that he was in the city; and that he had no idea of leaving here for the present. He intends to call on the President to-morrow. The Governor is as determined as ever in his opposition, to the Lecompton Constitution; but strong hopes are entertained that Senator Douglas will yet face the storm be himself created, and stand by the Administration in the hour of danger.—Governor Walker does not contemplate returning to Kansas prior to the elections, if at all. He advocates the immediate passage of the "Toombs bill," but this is wholly out of the question.—Constitution or no Constitution is now the great issue here. Washington, Dro. 18, 1857,

Washington, Dec. 16. After the announcement of the committees After the announcement of the committees in the Senate, the following proceedings took place:

Mr. Hamilin regarded the list of committees as disproportionate and scattonal. Mr. Doelittle objected to the arrangement of the committees, referring especially to the great North-West, and the importance of the commerce and navigation thereof.

Mr. Chandler denied that Republicans of the Senate had ever assented to such a formation of committees.

Mr. Bayard vindicated the propriety of the formation of the list. formation of the list,

Mr. Gwin also defended the list, alleging that the Republicans, when they had the power in the House, made the committees sectional and unjust.

Mr. Wilson denied that such was the case.—

Be contended that the Democratic and the Pro-Slavery parties were one and the same. The list was then agreed to, years 30, mays 10. Mr. Green proceeded to speak on Kansas af-fairs and objected to Mr. Douglas speech as well calculated to prejudice the question pending be-fore the people of Kaassa. The rest issue was not whether we do approve or do not approve of all the individual parts of the Lecompton Consti tution. The only question is: Does the Gonsti-tution embody the Republican form of Govern-ment? Nobody has ever disputed that. There eeemed to be a want of a clear understanding at to the relation the Federal Government sustains owards the territories. The inhabitants of Kan towards the territories. An immaniants of Kan eas are a sewerisin people, and no embling ac-is required to impart to them power to propose a change in their form of government. He ar-qued that Congress would have no sight to refuse to admit Kansas under the Lecompton Constituguen teat Congress would have no light to recuse to admit Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution. The people of Kansas never proposed to form a government without the consent of Congress. The Convention was held in subordination to the Territorial Government and was under no obligation to submit the Constitution, or any part of it to the popular vote. They chose to submit the slarery question, which was the great bone of contention, as a matter of policy, and not from any legal compulsion whatever. It was his opinion that the submission of that question alone, was better calculated to get the real will and judgment of the people, than if the whole Constitution had been submitted.—He concluded by urging a speedy decision of the question, saying that if any provisions of the Constitution were obnoxious to the people of Kansas, they would have the power of modifying and changing them at any time.

Mr. Douglas replied, stating his position. First, he did not regard as a fatal objection that there was no Enabling Actin advance. Secondly, he did not take the position that it was a fatal objection that the remaining the provision of the people before it was sont to Congress for accept.

not take the position that it was a fatal objection that the conscitution was not submitted to the people before it was sont to Congress for acceptance. The position he did assume was, that the regular mode of proceeding is by way of an Enabling Act, but if the Territorial Legislature proceeds to call a convention without having the consent of Congress, it is irregular, but not so irregular that it necessarily follows that all its proceeding are vitabed. The Lecompton Convention was not an unlawful body, but it was not a Convention was not an unlawful body, but it was not a Government for itself. The schedule said the Constitution should be submitted to all the people of Kansas for approval or disapproval. No Constitution could be considered republican which did not embody the will of the people who are to be governed by it. The next question was the begt mode of obtaining that will. He agreed with the Prosident that the best mode was to submit it to the people for acception or rejection.

He could not admit that o Constitution forced on a people against their will, was a republicant Constitution. It was of no near to now it was a constitution. a people against their will, was a republican Con-stitution. It was of no use to say it was a good Constitution. Congress has no right to force this thing down their throsts against their will. The Senator from Missouri arguit the importance In senator rom answert argus the importance of terminating the controversy now. He (Douglas) would do anything that was right and just to terminate it. He would sacrifice everything but principle, and honor to close this unhappy controversy; but how are we to do it? It must be troversy; but how are we to do it? It must be done upon the principle of eternal justice and truth, or it will not stay closed. Congress must terminate it upon the principle of self-government or they will not have a Republican form of government. No system of patching up and trickery will sattle this question. Itstead of having peace it would be only the beginning of a new controversy and it would be necessary to be received. peace it would be only the beginning of a new controvers, and it would be necessary to increase the army and use the military power, it the majority were to be subjected to the oppression of the minority. He trusted there would be no outbreak nor violence, but he feared such a result; if the majority of the people of Kansas were to be exerced into submission to the will of the minority.

Mr. Douglas then urged that the people of Kansas could not change their Constitution is adopted, till the year 1864, and then only by a Convention called by two-thirds of the Legisla. ture; this was not to be regarded as an Adminture; this was not to be regarded as an Admin-istration move; every man of the floor of the Senate was at perfect liberty to vote for or against without surrendering his party ties. The adop-tice of the measure would not only read asunder the Democratic party, but end the perpetuity of the Union. The President was a frank man, and he did not believe he would ask the Senators to ron their neeks into the halters of disunion or give man before he was need to take the leaf rnn their necks into the halters of disunion or civil war before he was ready to take the lead and point out the way. Let us restore peace to the country by ignoring these irregular Conventions at Lecompton and Topeke, authorize the people of Kansas to go forward and form a Constitution and State Government for themselves. That, he believed, would restore peace in ninety days. Adjourned.

Mr. Cox showed his hostility to the Lecompton Convention. He went for the submission of the entire constitution to the people, stating his views at some length, concluding by giving noviews at some length, concluding by giving no-tice of his intention to submit a proposition to take the popular vote on the subject. A con-troversy ensued between Hughes, of Ind., and Cox, which assumed something of a personal character, but without leading to any serious words. Adjourned.

our State Elections.

The close vote and long doubtful result of the fate election in this State is by no means a singular circumstance in Wisconsin politics. On the contrary, the same thing occurred at two previous elections, so that this is the third time within six years that the people of Wisconsin have not known, for many weeks after election, whom they had chosen for Governor. A comparison of these several votes show a curious co-

1:51-Frewill (Why) 22,319. Upham (Dem.) 21,512 1:55-Eashford (Rep.) 55,193. Bareton (Dem.) 35,555 1:55-Randell (Rep.) 44,693. Gross (Dem.) 44,239 The above are the official figures, as canvassed and declared by the State Boards. In 1855, however, the canvass was fraudulent, and though Barstow obtained the certificate and held the of nice of Governor for some months, he was eventually coated by the Supreme Court. The actual majority, that year, for Bashroso, was in the neighborhood of six hundred.

lu 1851 and 1855, the democrats, though they lost the Governor, carried all the other State Officers. This year, for the first time in the uplitical history of Wisconsin, the Republicans : ave succeeded in electing three of their candidates on the State ricket. The large and stead? increase in the aggregate vote of the State, as shown in the above table, is one of the many evidences of the rapid increase of its population.

The State Can movers,

The News of yesterday, has quite a long article on a "Kansas outrage in Wisconsin," the "outrage" in question having been committed by iss own party friends, the State Canvassers, in declining to count the supplemental returns from Dadge county. After much preliminary matter, the News speaks thus:

the News speaks taus:

The course that should have been pursued in this case—we say it with due deference to the State Cauvassers—was so plain that, immediately after the fact of the disagreement of the county cauvassers was ascertained the Sentinel, the Fide Remorat, and we believe other opposition happen, without hesitation of apparent doubt, the disfraction that the force of the disfraction. side fremorat, and we believe other opposition papers, without hesitation of apparent doubt, said that "of course the votes of the disfranchised towns will be counted as belonging to one county or the other," and the people supposed that this would be done. We, certainly, have not been able to discover an excuse for not counting them—and we are puxeled to know how the Board can justify their disposition of this question before the people.

All that the Board need do, in order, to justify themselves before the People, is simply to cite the law, of which they are the creatures and by which they must be governed. That law expressly confines the duties of the State Canvassers to tile several County Canvasses, as officially returned to them. They have no authority whatever to receive or count any "supplements." was fully established in the memorable trial before the Supreme Court, two years ago, when the State Board undertook, by counting false and forged supplemental returns, to make Barstow Governor in spite of the People.

The Sentines did say and does hold, that if the fairly cast votes of these disputed towns-as of all other towns, or precincts in the State, thrown result on any one candidate, the party thereby wronged wes entitled to his remedy before the the Supreme Court. And undoubtedly such party would have had justice done him as Gov. fixaliford had. But the State Canvassers are not the tribunal to hear and adjudge such emplaints. We hold, therefore, that they acted within the suite line of their duty in deciding not to count any of the "supplements." The demonstration of Senator Douglas is the law is their sole rule of action.

Messrs, Ponk and Pikken were rather soor samples of Presidential timber, but it begins o look as though Mr. Br chasas was to be Uncle Sam's hardest bargain in that line : THE CASE OF JOHN M'REON-A PRESIDENT NOT YO BE TRIFIED WITH.

Washington, Dec. 12, 1857. WASHINTON, Dec. 12, 1857.
Mr. Buchanon is already opening the eyes of members of Gongress to the fact that in him they have a President who, having a mind of his own, has the frankness and manificers to avow it, and adhore to his views, despite all outside demonstrations. In fact, the President is developing a trait in his character for which he has not here-tofore had credit—firmness and decision. In this respect, since he has been in the Executive chair, he more nearly approaches the dacksonian standard than any President since that day. Mr. McKeon and Mr. Stanton have already discovered it; and a few mere of your New York office holders will be apt to participate in this specie at information, unless they can show a clean. It'll of health.

posed the freedom and have their endorsoment. The President at once attraightened himself up; the rejoined, "I alone am responsible for the removal and appointment of my efficials. I do not shrink from that responsibility, nor do I desire to share with any one a duty which my office and the eath I have taken impose on me. I have decided upon a noring Mr. McKeon, and I shall not hesitate to remove any officer of the Government who, in my judgment, is guilty of insubordiontion." The effect of this declaration on the bystanders was electric. It at once proved that in Mr. Buchanan there was different material from poor Pierco.

The conversation then was directed to the choice of a successor to Mr. McKoon. The President said he would tender the petition of Judge Sutherland, so as to publicly mark his reasons for re-said he would tender the pectation of the seriand, as as to publicly mark his reasons for removing McKeon. Mr. James T. Brady's name was siggested. Mr. Buchanan remarked that he had no objection to Mr. Brady if that gentleman's friends could show he had actively exert.

man's friends could show he had actively exert ied himself in behalf of the Democratic numiner for Mayor. Of course, this roled Brady out.

A question was asked as to Rynder's conduct during the election, and in such a manner as led to the inference that the Marshal would probably never reach the Senate, unless he could furnish some undoubted proof that he was among the cithful.

I trust that any apparent impropriety in this publishing an account of the interview will be more than compensated by the motive which leads to it. It is but pre-fer that the people of the country should know that the President is no pupper to be pulled back and forth by the eo called "leaders" here; but a live man, who, having been clevated to the highe toffice in the gift of the country should know that the president is no pupper to be pulled back and forth by the eo called "leaders" here; but a live man, who, having been clevated to the highe toffice in the gift of the country should be contrally is determined to act up faithfully to be compared to the should be contrally in the grant of the country is determined to act up faithfully to

As to the Enabling Act of which he has given ancice, I doubt whether it can pass the Senate. There are ewenty Republican votes for it. It will require twelve more. Can they be had? It may pass the House. And Congress may find itself in a dond-lock on this question. There is much foul political weather ahead. The Democratic heavens are full of harricanen. Every Republican may be a senated to be a real to blance and the Laur. an must stand to his post, -Albany Evc. Jour.

imonsly of opinion that the half is admirable in every respect. It is impossible to conceive anything in one convenient or comfortable. The acoust of properties of the half were certainly tested, and it was found perfect. A man speaking in any part can make himself heard without effort throughout the entire Chamber.

This morning the Rev. Dr. Cammins, of this city, preached in the new half a dedicatory sermion to a congregation, filling the floor and nearly the whole of the vast galleries. His text was Dwitt, chap, xxtiii, v. 19. He spoke in glowing terms of Mores leading his host of lightyes from Siavery into the wilderness, cordially praised the Savery into the wilderness, cordially praised the Savery into the wilderness, cordially praised the Paritan forefathere of New England, cited the Ariohitionist, Wilherforce, as the model of a Christian statesman, and declared with great Fortune, which already on joys a considerable reputation to which sheady on joys a considerable reputation to which shealy, has just played two very droll fresh in her favorite city of Paris. She selected in one case a broker, and in the other a chimney-savep, as the subjects of her fancy, and experimented apon their emotions in the following manner. The broker one day lost a bundle of shares of the Zouzibar Coal Company, valued nominally at 100 francs each, but really susceptible of any run to which thoy could be swelled by ingenious inflation. Things were showing an "opward tendency" when this accident occurred, so the broker advertised his thirty chares, and offered a reward of 100 francs for their selejesture. so the broker awer used not during sources, and of-forced a reward of 100 frances for their self-greatra. Within three days the course of events changed, and 5 took began to run down faster than the means in the interest going of "Diccory Diccory Theory," Immediately whereupon the unhappy broker's door was besigged with knowledge of specific and the property of t brokers does was besigned with a buildle of thity spatience, each armed with a buildle of thity shares of Zunziber, and claunorous for the reward of 100 frances. At the last advices this victim of fortune was hesitating between the chances of a compromise, and the consolations of chances of a compromise, and the consolations of solicide. The chimney-sweeper's revulsion was of a very different kind. He was engaged to clean the flues of an old house in the Rue de Cheric, belonging to the city of Paris, and had begun operations by removing an old secretary from a scotin which it had stood undisturbed for over halfa century. The secretary resented this revolutionary treatment, and fell to pieces according, when certain bags were revealed in its inmost depths. These the chimney-sweep extracted, and found them to be like the Sibylline books in number, though of a clearer significance, for fire of them contained each 7,000 and the four others each 8,000 six franc pieces of the year 1791. Some of the bags bore the address of a long departed bishop, M. de Glandeire, and all of them were earefully the dup and sended. They were evidently relica of the Reign of Terror, but as neither bishops nor carres could be expected to have direct heirs, and as no indirect heirs either could or did present themselves, the city of Paris and the chimney sweeper have divided the treas.

or did present themselves, the city of Paris and the chimney sweeper have divided the treasure between them. And we would willingly wager a reasonable sum that at this moment a grace or two of the geninal deanntists of Paris are working up a comple of entertaining Vandevilles out of these two incidents of Parisian life.—N.Y. Value of Indian Corn.

For the following interesting information in regard to this little understood kind of food, we are indebted to Hand's Merchant's Magazine:

"By those who do not know, or who are too scientific to profit by the experience of nations of men and herds of lat cattle, Indian corn, rice, backwheat, &c., and only considered "good fooddor." Liebig states that if we were to go naked like the Indians, or if we were subject to the same degree of cold as the Hamoiledes, we should be able to consume the half of a caif and a dezen candles at a single meal! During excessive fatigue in low temperature wheat flour fails to sustain the system. This is owing to a deficency in the elements necessary to supply unimal heat Value of Indian Corn. re elements necesuary to supply snimal heat the clements necreatry to supply united that and a storing desire for cleaginous substance, under these circumstances, has led to the belief that animal load is necessary for human support. But lite recipinities experiments, and a better acquaintance with the babits of the North Americans.

quaintance with the habits of the North American Indians, tave shown that a vegetable oil answers the same purpose as animal food; that one pound of parched Indian corn, or an equality of comment inde into bread, is more than equivalent to two pounds of fat ment.

Meal from Indian corn contains more than four times as much olenginous matter as whoat flour, more statch, and consequently capable of producing more sugar and though less gluten, in other important compounds it contains nearly as much nitrogenous national. The combinating of alineating compounds in Indian corn, renders it along the mixed diet enpable of sustaining man under the most extraordinary circumstances.—

In it, there is a natural coalescence of chementary principles which constitute the hasis of organic life, that exists in no other vegatable proary principles which constitute the basis of organic life, that exists in no other vegatable production. In ultimate composition, in nutritions
